

Wish you had the time to write more business?

With the pressures of running a business, dealing with the Financial Regulator and still finding time to fulfil CPD requirements... does it sometimes seem to you that advising your clients takes second place?

Citadel Financial Advice provides all the support you need to be able to get on with what you do best - building your business. We can seamlessly provide the support that you need, enabling you to give your clients excellent customer service and the full benefit of your professional expertise.

A complete back office service for Brokers

Citadel provides a wide range of services that will help you to develop your business:

- an experienced compliance team to keep you up to speed with the latest regulatory changes and one step ahead of new legislation
- an excellent relationship with the Financial Regulator
- state-of-the-art technology
- a robust administration function
- business development experts
- a skilled and effective marketing department
- a market leading commission structure
- training and development
- all of your business on one commission statement

The flexibility that you need

Whichever support services you need to give you the freedom to build your business, Citadel can help. From business enabling compliance advice to a complete back-office administration function, we provide access to many exclusive facilities that have been designed specifically to benefit your every day working life.

Freedom to do business

To find out how Citadel can give you the freedom to do business call Paul Sutton on 087 289 0855 or email paul.sutton@citadel-fa.ie

Citadel Financial Advice Limited is regulated by the Financial Regulator