Introduction

The turmoil in financial markets over the past four years has caused investors to become more risk averse. Wealth preservation has become the most important investment objective for many investors but they still have to place their money where they think it will achieve the best return for a given level of risk. The challenge, however, is to determine the level of risk that is commensurate with the potential return that may be achieved.

Structured deposits offer a solution to this by enabling investors to manage their risk exposure for a given level of potential return. The opportunity cost is the risk free rate of return that would otherwise be earned over the same investment term. Investors must therefore evaluate the trade-off between these returns in their quest for better performance.

Other factors that need to be considered include the underlying asset of the investment and the term of the deposit. Taking all of these factors into account, investors are increasingly using structured deposits as a separate component in the construction of their investment portfolios in order to produce a more optimal trade-off between risk and return.

Product suitability

This product is suitable for investors who:

- have at least €25,000 to invest
- are satisfied with the creditworthiness of KBC Bank Ireland plc, a wholly owned subsidiary of Belgian-based KBC Bank NV
- have a low tolerance to capital risk (the Memory Account is 100% capital secure at maturity)
- have a medium tolerance to interest risk (the total potential return over the deposit term will be within a range of 0% to 35% (0.0% to 7.0% AER))
- are able to commit funds for 5 years and do not anticipate any need to withdraw that money before the Maturity Date, even in the case of an emergency

Investment Rationale

The economic policy dilemma

The western world is still suffering from the effects of the financial crisis and economic collapse in 2008. The fundamental problem continues to be the excessive level of debt that has accumulated over the past 30 years. The challenge facing governments and central banks is how to contain the debt crisis and at the same time maintain economic activity during the deleveraging process that is now taking place.

The US policy response

In the United States, the Federal Reserve has lowered the target federal funds range to 0% - 0.25% and provided unprecedented amounts of money to support financial markets. Tentative signs of economic recovery in the form of higher employment and capacity utilisation have been tempered by more recent weak economic news.

Euro crisis continuing

The European Central Bank's injection of over €1 trillion of 3 year liquidity into European banks and the completion of Greece's debt exchange programme have diminished fears of a breakup of the euro. However, the bank solvency and local authority funding crises in Spain have highlighted the need, yet again, for a long term solution to deal with the shortcomings of the euro currency system.

Risk appetite increasing

The ongoing recapitalisation of the Eurozone financial system and a slowdown in economic growth in China suggests that official interest rates will stay lower for longer. Abundant liquidity has been recycled into government bonds, driving yields down and forcing investors to move up the risk curve in the quest for higher returns.

Linking the Coupon to the performance of the EURO STOXX 50 Index

At 31 August 2012, the EURO STOXX 50 Index was 46% below its high point reached in July 2007. In contrast to the Standard & Poor's 500 Index which was 10% below its October 2007 high point and has rebounded by 108% since March 2009, the EURO STOXX 50 has recovered by just 35% over the same period.

Historical Perspective

The chart below shows the price movement of the Index over 20 years from the end of August 1992 to the end of August 2012.

Coupon Payment Analysis

The Condition to earn the Base Coupon (and potentially the Memory Coupon) is that the Final Price of the Index on a Year End Date is greater than the Start Price of the Index on the Start Date.

Looking at historical data over twenty years to 31 August 2012 and investing in the EURO STOXX 50 Index every day over that period -

- over every one year period, the Index was up on 3,206 out of 4,887 occasions (65.6% of the time)
- over every five year period, the Index was up on 1,976 out of 3,860 occasions (51.2% of the time)

Warning: Past performance is not a reliable guide to future performance.

Investment Returns

The Memory Account offers the potential to earn the Base Coupon if the Final Price of the EURO STOXX 50 Index at the end of each year is greater than the Start Price on the Start Date ('the Coupon Condition'). Otherwise, no interest will be earned in respect of that year.

The Memory Feature: If the Coupon Condition is not satisfied at any one Year End Date but is satisfied at a subsequent Year End Date, the Interest payable in respect of the subsequent year will be the Base Coupon plus the Memory Coupon. The Memory Coupon is 7.0% gross interest multiplied by the number of previous year(s) since the Coupon Condition was last satisfied on a Year End Date or the Start Date, whichever is the later. The table below illustrates how potential returns are calculated, based on a set of assumed interest payments and a DIRT rate of 30%.

Total Interest Paid for a year refers to the sum of the Base Coupon payable for that year (if any) plus the Memory Coupon payable for that year (if any).

- Minimum interest: If the Coupon Condition is not satisfied in any year, no interest will be earned (AER 0.0%)
- Maximum potential interest: If the Coupon Condition is satisfied in each year, interest earned will be 35% (AER 7.0%)

In the exceptional circumstance where the Coupon Condition is not satisfied in the first four years but is satisfied in the fifth year, the interest earned will be 35% (AER 6.18%).

Key Features

How does the Memory Account work?

1. The Product Producer is:

KBC Bank Ireland plc, Sandwith Street, Dublin 2.

2. Brief Description of the Benefits of the Account:

The Memory Account is a 5 year deposit based product that potentially pays an annual Coupon depending on the future performance of the EURO STOXX 50 Index.

If the Final Price of the Index at each Year End Date is greater than the Start Price on the Start Date ('the Coupon Condition'), a Base Coupon of 7% gross interest will be paid in respect of that year. Otherwise, no interest will be earned in respect of that year.

If the Coupon Condition is not satisfied at any one Year End Date but is satisfied at a subsequent Year End Date, the Interest payable in the subsequent year will be the Base Coupon plus the Memory Coupon.

The Memory Coupon is 7% gross interest multiplied by the number of previous year(s) since the Coupon Condition was last satisfied on a Year End Date or the Start Date, whichever is the later.

The minimum return that may be earned on the Account is 0% (AER 0.0%). The maximum potential return that may be earned on the Account is 35% (AER 7.0%). All interest earned will be payable on the Coupon Payment Date to which it relates to.

100% capital security is provided on the Account by KBC Bank Ireland plc.

3. Dividends:

The Memory Account will not be directly invested in securities which are constituents of the Index and by investing in the Account, neither you, as an investor in the Account, nor the Bank will benefit from any dividends paid on those securities.

4. Currency Risk:

The performance of the Index is calculated according to the change in its nominal level and there is consequently no exposure to exchange rates in the Account.

Where does my investment go?

Your proposed investment will be used, at the date of the investment, as follows:

- 100% of your investment will be held on deposit with the Bank. In relation to Interest payable on the Account, you will be entitled to the payment of such Interest annually after deduction of tax (if applicable) in addition to the return of 100% of your investment at maturity.
- The Bank may, on its own account, enter into a swap arrangement with a third party whereby the Bank may agree to exchange the income stream generated by the deposit of your investment for such sums as may be necessary to pay any Interest due on the Account. Any such swap arrangement made by the Bank will not affect the obligation of the Bank with regard to any Interest payable to you under the terms of issue of the Account.
- Any benefit that the Bank receives its use of the proceeds from your investment over and above the Interest that is payable to you under the terms of the Memory Account will be for the Bank's own account. In the event that the Memory Account is distributed through an appointed intermediary of the Bank, a distribution fee up to 2.5% of the investment sum will be payable by the Bank to that intermediary. Any intermediary remuneration will not affect the allocation of your investment in the Memory Account or any Interest payable to you under the terms of issue of the Account.

Do I have access to my investment?

Your investment is for the fixed term of the Account and is intended only for investors who do not require access to their investment prior to its maturity. No withdrawal may be made before the end of the Term. The ongoing cost of funding the underlying structure that will pay any interest to you during the investment term means that the capital secure portion of the Account is only payable within 5 business days of the Maturity Date. During the investment term, it may be difficult to obtain reliable information about its value or the extent of the risks to which it is exposed.

What happens if I die before the Account matures?

In the event of the death of a sole investor or surviving joint account holder prior to the expiry of the Term, the Account will continue to the Maturity Date in the name of the executor or administrator. On the death of a joint Account holder, the money standing to the credit of the Account will be paid to or to the order of the survivor(s) within 5 business days of the Maturity Date.

What about tax?

Interest payable on the Account is subject to Deposit Interest Retention Tax ("DIRT") where applicable and is currently payable at 30%. On any such interest, DIRT will be deducted prior to any Interest being paid. You should include this interest amount, before DIRT, in your income tax return for the year in which it is received. Both the rate of tax and tax rules are subject to change without notice.

Some Irish resident investors, such as individuals over 65 and those who are permanently incapacitated, may be entitled, in certain circumstances and subject to the completion of certain declaration forms, to be paid interest without the deduction of DIRT. Companies, pension funds, non-resident investors and registered charities may be entitled, in certain circumstances, to be paid interest without deduction of DIRT. It is the responsibility of investors to obtain any tax relief that may apply. Tax reliefs are those currently applying, are subject to change without notice and apply directly to the customer.
